

Rothman Attends Third Annual Memory Walk for the Alzheimer's Association of Greater New Jersey

Just as in each year of its three year existence, on Sunday, October 16, 2005, Congressman Steve Rothman attended the Annual Memory Walk for the Alzheimer's Association of Greater New Jersey at Van Saun Park in Paramus, New Jersey. Rothman spoke about the importance of continuing to work on a local level to help treat, diagnose and support patients, as well as the federal government's obligation to financially support research for Alzheimer's. Alzheimer's disease affects an estimated four and a half million Americans, including 350,000 people served by the Greater New Jersey Chapter.
