(Washington, DC)-On April 22, 2008, Congressman Steve Rothman (D-NJ) met with leaders of the Health Care Association of New Jersey (HCANJ) to discuss their mutual concerns about the statewide shortage of quality housing for seniors. Rothman also voiced his strong opposition to the Bush Administration's proposed funding cuts to Medicare and Medicaid, a view shared by HCANJ's members.

Headquartered in Hamilton, NJ, HCANJ is a non-profit trade association representing long-term care providers who advocate for implementing professional and compassionate standards of care. For more information about HCANJ, visit <http://www.hcanj.org/>.
